ALOHA, WELCOME!

Hornyhead.com – Newsletter # 2
April 2007

Hello MOVEMENT, welcome back to The Hornyhead Surf Travel Co official newsletter, edition 2. Each month we aim to bring you company and industry news. Stay tuned.... www.hornyhead.com. And, oh yeah, we would love to hear from you. E-mail us at hornyhead@gmail.com. And remember that we are having a SPRING PROMO not to be missed out ;) And ANYONE who sends us 4, or more, people on one trip to any one of our packages receives an all-inclusive deal i.e. accommodation and lessons for one week (400 euros).

OUR NEW ARRIVAL:

Yes, we have had a new baby. Its name is UMM and she a healthy green and weighs a staggering 900kg, she's green and carries 6-8 people.

It is an original 1992 4X4 Jeep. She's beautiful. So this will be one of our transport vehicles this summer for you guys who want to surf or go to town.

It has a convertible roof and handles like a late 80's defender, true fun. She is the only Jeep that Portugal has ever produced and hopefully she lasts until the end of the summer, ha ha!

COMPETITION:

Every month we will be running a competition that rewards our loyal readers and followers. We ask you to invite as many friends to come join us on www.myspace.com/hornyheadsurftravel.

This month we are running a competition that is based on surfing, lifestyle and general knowledge. People can enter via a message on myspace.com's bulletin board and the prizes are as follows. This month's prize is 1 x week's free accommodation at the Hornyhead Surfcamp here in Ericeira, Portugal. Indonesia - The Forgotten Paradise

Since the bombings in 2002 and again in 2004, the tourism has dropped drastically within Indonesia. Then the Tsunami in 2005 also put a big question mark as to why we would want to travel there.

The information on the internet warns us of many dangers but in fact we found the islands to be completely calm and friendly. Don't be put off Indonesia because of the media, remember EVERYWHERE has problems.

It was my first visit to these Islands and although we took 55 days there, it still wasn't enough. If you like the touristy jaunt of sightseeing the volcanoes, the caves and temples then go to Bali. If you prefer the primitive idyllic coastlines and pristine beaches the travel to Lombok, you won't be disappointed.

We also spent several days in Lembongan where the people here are true islanders with an upper relaxed laid-back approach to life, no stress just smile. We found fantastic food, people who were always smiling and are full of the joys of life. In truth these people have nothing but everything at the same time, quite a humbling experience. The Waves were everything we imagined, great surf, warm water and beautiful marine life.

We made many quality contacts there and we will gladly share this experience with you.....!
